EVOLUTION OF MOBILITY DURING AND BEYOND COVID-19 EMERGENCY

The mobility sector is certainly one of the most affected by the behaviour change due to the COVID-19 emergency.

We analyse transformations and challenges that this sector is facing with the partner companies of the MS degree in Mobility Engineering and the global perspective of McKinsey & Company.

LECTURERS:

Renato Mazzoncini - Professor of Mobility: Infrastructures and Services

Pierluigi Coppola - Professor of Urban Planning, Transport and Economics

Marco Piuri - CEO, Trenord

Arrigo Giana - General Director, ATM

Massimo Giordano - Managing Partner Mediterranean Office,
McKinsey & Company

Nicola Sandri - Global Leader of Transport Infrastructures,
McKinsey & Company

The event will be broadcast with the Microsoft Teams application.
